

THE WORLD IN THE GRIP OF ORGANISED CRIME, DRUGS, ARMS, CHILD-SNATCHING, PORNOGRAPHY, COMPUTER CRIMES, TERRORISM..

[Editorial Note: Some people, who are well fed and well provided through the ignorance of others, declare that there is nothing wrong with the world. For instance an Irani pseudo moslem Miaan Ali Jafri said so somewhere in his American non-Parsi Magazine. He pretends to be the apostle of a Parsi Dastoor, who wrote a book "Our Perfecting World", most of which was wrong when being written and has now proved wrong in its every sentence. Mian Jafri's Parsi Irani surrogate prof. Irani read a paper on the perfecting world, Zoroastrian-ali explained in the recent conference of world religions, where almost every other delegate expressed serious concern over the present withering times, world and humanity!

The truth is that EVERYTHING IS WRONG WITH THE WORLD. The world and the humanity are corroded beyond repair. And the 19th century's so called "progressive intellectualism" is to be squarely blamed for it. More and more humans are being sold to the devil everyday.

Here is the U. N. Secretary General Boutros Boutros Ghali, speaking, while opening the conference on "Worldwide Organised Crime" (what a subject!) at Naples on 21st November 1994: -

"International crime gangs have expanded from traditional spheres of activity such as prostitution, the arms trade and trafficking in drugs to money laundering, the trade in nuclear technology and human organs, and the transport of illegal immigrants."

It seems, the above words of the first political human being of our times, the UN Secretary General, are soberly understated. They are quoted on the opening page of a book, "The Octopus" with the sub-title "Europe in the Grip of Organised Crime" by Brian Freemantle (Orion 1995). The 374 pages long text of the book begins by the sentence "CRIME PAYS" and says on the 9th page, ".....the crime not only pays, IT'S WINNING". The same page refers to Mr. Boutros Ghali stating at that conference that the entire world confronts a choice "the rule of law over the rule of the jungle". And at the end of Brian's book, it seems the choice is already made. The last sentence of the book is the same as the first: "CRIME PAYS". (p.374)

The Devil is Out!

The globally organised crime is treated by Brian in eight headlings, each of which reads like a horror - banner: -

1. The illegal nuclear and conventional arms trade. Mafia gangs are operating all over the globe. And even the Governments of certain countries sell arms to the actual or potential terrorist countries. (The seller countries include U.K.).

2. The illegal drug trade; which is estimated to yield the total income of 328 billion pounds, and is inseparably connected with the arms-trade.

3. Money Laundering, for washing or dry-cleaning the global profits earned from the arms and drug trades.

4. Computer Crime, involving crashing of computer systems, as a tool for black mail. One Dr. Popp would have earned 4 billion pounds by such blackmail, had he succeeded in his huge scheme before he actually turned insane.

5. Child Snatching for their Organs, to be implanted into the evil rich at the horrible cost of the poor - that too children!

6. Prostitution and Pornography, the former a huge global trade, and the latter a devilish gift from computer technology, where children are sexually tormented and murdered, and the whole horror is shown on the screen!

7. Illegal Immigrants, a highly organised global event.

8. Terrorism, whereby criminal humans can mass-murder innocent humans, in any corner on the globe.

There is one more: "Fine art", where paintings, statues, carved furniture, designs are stolen or faked! Each of these nine has horrid tale to tell.

Nothing wrong with our perfecting world! Eh!

The godless humans of the globe have gone too far to be saved. Only a divine intervention can avert the fast approaching disaster. Whoever doubts this, should read "The Octopus". Such well documented books written with intense concern for man on earth are rare. The author has done tremendous amount of field work, which could have involved not merely strenuous exertion but even personal risk.

This humble 'Parsi Pukar' has obvious limitations of space. We would like to have our features: "Withering Times" and "Story Corner" in every issue. But we just cant do that, although we have materials in abundance. Of course, every issue has one or more stories, spread over children's corner' and other articles. The present article is a combination. The withering times are revealed by "The Octopus" and here is Dosu-baba telling you a real story, formulated from page 38 of that excellent book. It is a specimen of organised crime current on the globe - Editor]

The Brothers Outsiev

As the two brothers Ruslan Outsiev and Nazerbeck Outsiev entered the posh restaurant, the eyes of every waiter were intensely focused on them. Every bearer wished, they would select his table. Who else in London pays £ 2000 as tips?

One of them, Ruslan was balding and well built. The other, Nazerbeck, was slimmer and darker. Very luxurious people! They had a million Pound pent house in Marylebone, near London proper. They were known in the relevant circles to ask for six call-girls at a time. Who were they?

Ruslan described himself as deputy prime minister of Chechenia, an oil-rich state in northern Caucasus which came into hot news after the fall of communism in Russia. The state had revolted against the Russian power and self-declared its independence. Boris Yeltsin the Russian President, crushed the rebellion though not too successfully. The fire there still simmers and flares up. It did in this month of March.

One day, Ruslan was found killed by three bullets in the back of his head. His brother Nazerbeck was on that day in a hospital. When discharged, he came to his posh flat. He was found similarly killed on the same day.

The Police could find the killers, one Martirossian and the other Gagic, and kept them in the police-cell pending trial.

Martirossian hanged himself in the cell. Gagic was tried and given two life-sentences in October 1993.

Who were these Outsiev brothers? And why all this?

They were from Chechenia all right, and were supporting the rebels of their motherland from London. But their murders were due to an entirely different reason.

Azerbaijan is a Muslim republic touching the Caspian Sea on the side of Turkey. Armenia is its neighboring country with Christian predominance. Both are at war (not always a cold war) over an enclave, Nagorno-Karabakh. The Armenian intelligence, which is mainly made up of former KGB personnel, found out in 1992 that Outsiev brothers were acting as the Moslem Azerbaijan's agents and were negotiating with secret arm dealers, in London and elsewhere, to purchase 2000 stinger surface-to-air missiles ('SAM'S) for Azarbaijan. London, the centre seat of the former British Emprie (on which the sun always set in the past) is now the seat of organised crime mobs - Scotland Yard and the National Criminal Intelligence notwithstanding - and is a comparatively safer shopping market for sophisticated arms. Had the brothers succeeded in the deal, the balance of that war would have tilted in Azerbaijan's favour. The Armenian Intelligence plotted successfully to kill the brothers. The killer, Mkritch Martirossia who hanged himself in the prison, was an Armenian Intelligence agent. At the trial of his colleague who was sentenced in October 1993, it was indicated that Rulean Outsiev was negotiating for the 'Sam's deal not only with the illegal dealers but also with legitimate Governments, and companies! There are many, including the U. K. Government, as Brian Freemantle startlingly reveals in his "The Octopus" (1995 - Orian).

In this Century, truth is not only stranger, but also ghastlier, than fiction. - Dosu Baba.

[Thanks! Dosu Baba! I shall now give you, my reader, some dreadful information arising out of this grim true-story.

Dosu Baba says that in the past, the sun always set on the British Empire. This is not a printer's devil. When the British ruled us, we were told with great relish that the sun never sets on their Empire. This meant that the Empire was so vast that there was, at any moment in 24 hours some part on the earth, where the sun was shining. That means, says Dosu baba, there was at any moment, atleast one another part on earth where the sun was set. Therefore "the sun always set on the British Empire."

There is a famous response to the not setting of the sun on the empire: "Because God does not trust them in darkness". It now seems, they are not trustworthy even in daylight!

A British firm Matrix Churchill sold, in 1980, advanced weapons to Sadam Husain of Iraq, to the knowledge of the UK government. And London was supplying weapons to Iran too! In Iran-Iraq war, a million people are estimated to have been killed!

In 1988, Margaret Thatcher signed an agreement for the sale of the British arms worth 1.8 billion pounds to Indonesia, along with another agreement to contribute 234 million pounds in aid towards the construction of a dam in the same country. All that happened was a ruling from the High Court in November 1994 that the then Foreign Secretary had broken "the law of allocating aids."! Judges speak, politicians care a hoot. And the same Magy-Thatch recently called upon the West to form an ICBM ring around it to protect it from the likely attacks of Islamic terrorist countries, her own customers of lethal weapons!

On 22-2-94, a television programme: "Death of a Nation - The Timor Conspiracy" by John Pingler and David Munro, revealed that the British aircraft was used in the genocide of East Timor. This is a small country in Indonesia, which is being cruelly suppressed by the mainland to the knowledge and active connivance of the western powers. That is another horror story.... No trust in day light!

What is SAM!

Dosu Baba had referred to surface-to-air Missile (SAM). A missile is a rocket propelled weapon carrying nuclear or non-nuclear arms and explosives. Missiles can be propelled from surface to air (SAM), or surface to surface (SSM), or air-to-air (AAM) or air to surface (ASM). They are classified as strategic or tactical. The former are long ranged, called ICBM: inter continental ballistic missiles; they can reach targets over 5500 km or 3400 miles. Tactical missiles are short ranged - 1100 km or 680 miles maximum. The stingier missile is a tactical missile small enough to be carried by one person and can be fired from a shoulder head tube. The guidance system of missiles may consist of radar and computers. They can be guided from the ground.

As Bernard shaw pointed out, our civilisation is most thorough in killing and murdering. Our perfecting world! Oof !! - Editor]

Think Over....

Every invention and every discovery of Science, from electricity to satellites and from atom to genetics, have led to the weapons for killing of man by man. And yet Nature's truth hidden even in a speck of dust is not understood by science.
